The result of the caucuses of the various state delegations of Woodmen last night leaves the political situation as outlined in The Journal yesterday morning practically unchanged. Nearly all the states declared for the re-election of the present head officers, with the exception of head banker, a one term office. The politics of the convention, then, resolves itself into a fight for this office between Iowa and Missouri and a fight for the location of the next head camp between St. Paul and Grand Rapids.

seems to lie between Iowa and Missouri there is a third candidate, indorsed by the Wisconsin caucus last night. He is Arthur J. Dearborn, of Beloit. Getting into the race so late, he could only expect to wir as a dark horse. Should he withdraw, it is expected that he will throw his support to Errett, Missouri's candidate. Mr. Errett is also handicaped by his lateness in entering the race. He found the field occupied by Frank R. Crocker, of Chariton Ia., and his friends, who claimed everything. Missouri, however, served notice axiom. Backed by the united state delegation Errett entered the contest to win. Last night his supporters claimed that ing to make it unanimous. There are total of 383 delegates in the convention, making 192 necessary to elect. The Missouri steering committee is claiming a majority of the delegates for Errett. R. W. Mitchell, editor of the Nevada Post, goe jority of the delegates for Errett. R. W. Mitchell, editor of the Nevada Post, goes further.

"We have 200 positive pledges for Errett," he said, last night, "and are counting 245 votes for him. Errett's support will come largely from Missouri, Kansas, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and the Pacific slope and Mountain states. Mr. Errett has made a phenomenal race, starting as he did so late. He has gained constantly all day.

"The state in which te head camp is held is entitled to head banker and usually gets the office: Iowa falled two years ago on account of factional differences in her own delegation. This was not the fault of Missouri and now we are asking consideration for the only demand we make of this convention.

"H. E. Errett has brought more men into the order than any other citizen of the state. He was a charter member of Nevada camp and has never missed a meeting since its organization, except when ill or away from home. He is a merchant and in no way connected with the banking business. With the funds in his hands the bidding for depositories will be purely competitive."

Iowa delegates are just as strong in their claim that Crocker will be elected. their claim that Crocker will be elected. They say there is no other man in the race. None of the other states pronounced for either candidate.

The Missouri caucus fired the first gun for a reserve fund by adopting. 2s to 3, a resolution effered by John Sullivan, asking for this policy. The resolution will be offered to the head camp and will precipitate one of the big contests of the session.

shall be elected biennially and be ineligible to re-election. At present only the head banker is ineligible to succeed himself. Many prominent Woodmen have expressed themselves as being in favor of the proposed change.

Under the present system there are twelve head physicians for the nineteen states that comprise the present Woodmen territory, some of the smaller states being grouped together. The office of head physician is considered a "good thing." He gets a fee of 25 cents for every application he passes upon and in Illinois this makes a salary to the head physician of something over $6,000 a year. There is some dissatisfaction with the fee system, and there is a movement on foot to elect only one head physician, give him a deputy in each state and put them all on salaries.

One advantage of this scheme would be to secure uniform examinations, since the

One advantage of this scheme would be to secure uniform examinations, since the head physician would then appoint all the local examiners.

If the present system is retained it will probably be enlarged, making nineteen nead physicians and grouping the new states admitted among these nineteen.

Although Governor Northcott is certain to be re-elected head consul, a covert attack upon him lurks in a scheme broached yesterday to make the state deputies elective instead of appointive. The present system of deputies is Mr. Northcott's own, He appoints all of them and oversees their work. If a change is made it will smack of a reflection upon his administration.

The action of the South Dakota caucus has been preserved a secret. It is presumed that the candidacy of S. A. Ramsey, of Woonsocket, for auditor was indorsed.

Growth of the Order. ern Woodmen of American, who has been at his headquarters, parlors B and C, Coates House, since Saturday morning, is one of the officers most sought after by delegates and Woodmen, as they arrive in the city. Major Hawes is, perhaps, one of the best known fraternal society officers in the country. Since 1890 he has successfully and satisfactorily handled the immense volume of hardware which the country. and satisfactorily handled the immense vol-iume of business which has passed through the Modern Woodmen of America head of-fice at Rock Island, Ill.

"Last year our gains in membership sur-passed all previous records," said Major Hawes to a Journal reporter. "We now have, as the membership statement for the month ending May ill shows, a total of 391.

The adoptions during the month aggregated, in round numbers, $15,000,090, and on the members in temporary suspension, for non-payment of dues or assessments, there was over $5,000,000 in force, likely to be revived at any time. This will afford you some idea of the immensity of the business transacted by our society. When I tell you, further, that in the year 1888 we paid to the beneficiaries of deceased members a total of $2,407,000, and that this year our disbursements will probably exceed $4,000,000, you will appreciate the fact that this is not a one-horse fraternal sideshow for the big insurance corporations of the land."

Major Haines dwelt at length upon the handsome new head office building recently erected by the society at Rock Island, ill. As he explains it, the building is unquestionably the most completely fire proof of any in the country. "You could not get a toothpick out of the entire structure, taid he: "all steel and cement and concrete. In the head office are employed at the present time nearly 160 clerks, this forze handling all the society's volume of business. Ours, I may say, is a central jurisdiction order. We have but one office, where all business is transacted, and not a head office in each state, as the Workmen have.

EX-PREACHER FAGLEY'S CHARAC-TER DISCUSSED.

ONCE DEALT IN GREEN GOODS

IS STILL ON THE INQUISITORS' GRIDIRON.

Yesterday-Jack Kennedy Is Still Cynosure of All Eyes and Seems to Enjoy the Notoriety.

HARTVILLE, MO., Via MANSFIELD, MO., June 5.-(Special.) Jack Kennedy again to-day was the subject of all the tesmony that was given in the trial of Jacob Fagley, the alleged Macomb train robber, who is being tried at Hartville. Court convened at 9 o'clock this morning and the examination of witnesses for the state was continued until 1 o'clock, owing to the absence of three witnesses for whom attachments were issued. When court convened this afternoon the examination of the defense's witnesses was begun. A large number were examined, but they were nearly all related to Fag-ley. They testified to his good reputation, but several, when closely questioned, said that they had heard that Fagley had been in the green goods business.

Witnesses were also introducetd to prove that Byrum, the confessor, had a bad rep-utation, but the trend of the defense was to prove that the man Davis, who was seen at Fagley's house before the robbery and who was so positively identified by a large number of state's witnesses as Jack Kennedy, was not Kennedy, and various descriptions were given of Davis. How-ever, all the defense's witnesses said his mustache was black, but as to his other features they seemed to have forgotten just how he looked. Some said he was a low, heavy set man; another, a large man, weighing nearly 200 pounds. The most interesting part of to-day's proceedings was when Kennedy was brought into the courtroom by the defense.

Defense Asks for Witnesses

Colonel Musick asked that Elmer Byrum, the confessed robber, be recalled and the defense and again told the same story of the robbery, not differing in the least in the most minor details. H. J. Burke was again recalled and was cross-exam-their witnesses.

The state, however, called one witness D. E. Davis, the hardware clerk at Mans-nield, from whom Byrum bought the dyna-mite. He corroborated the confessor's story relating to that part. Colonel Musick then made a brief an-nouncement to the jury, saying the denouncement to the jury, saying the de-fense would show that Jacob Fagley was The express agent Newton was recalled

John Russet, a minister, testified that he knew Fagley in Laclede county, but knew little of him since 1890, when the defendant went to Wright county.

Ira Atkinson, one of the state's witnesses for whom an attachment had been issued, was placed on the stand. He testined to having sold Fagley a gray horse after the robbery.

William Swift was called in behalf of the defense. He lives in Douglas county and knew Fagley, and said that he never heard anything against the defendant. But Eurke, who lives near Fagley, said the reputation of the defendant was fairly good, but had heard of the green goods affair.

Bad for State's Witness.

West Vancil testified that John Bolt one of the state's witnesses, told him last March, after the robbery, that Fagley owed him $100 and if he did not pay it he utation was good.

John Ryan swore that Bolt had told him that he would do all he could to injure that he would do all he could to injure Fagley.

"Are you any relation to Fagley?"

"No, he just married my daughter," replied Ryan.

Harve Thomas said Fa; ley's reputation was good. When cross-e amined by Mr. Ball and asked whose son he was he said: "My father's son, I believe." The remark caused much laughter in the courtroom. E. F. Stark said Fagley's reputation was generally good. was generally good.

True Ryan, brother-in-law of Fagley, also failed to recognize Kennedy, though he had seen the man "Davis." His description of Davis differed greatly from the description of the other witnesses for defense. He said Davis weighed nearly 200 pounds and nearly six feet tall. Otherwise he remembered very little about him.

Mrs. Campbell, sister-in-law of Fagley, also testified that she could not recognize Kennedy as Davis. Mrs. Ryan, Fagley's mother-in-law, swore a man at Fagley's house called Davis, but had never seen Kennedy.

W. F. Nigh was then flaging for the Metropolium Street Railway Company and he left the railroad in the spring.

The Reunion of the Heroes of San Junn on June 24 Is Creating Great Interest in the Southwest-They Will Own the Town.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., June 5 - (Special.) throughout New Mexico just at present is information generally sought for on such occasions. The affection which the troopers manifest for Colonel Roosevelt approaches swagger, in front of two deputies, and took a seat in the witness chair. He was dressed by ery neatly in a suit of brown. He wore a white linen collar and black tie, and drummed on his brown derby with his fingers. No questions were asked him. He had sat in the witness chair when he was again taken back to the jail. While he was in the courtroom he embraced the opportunity of looking at the jury, and that body in return had a good look at the "quail hunter." The main object of the defense was to have Kennedy viewed by the jury. After he had been on exhibition the court adjourned until to-morrow, when the arguments will be begun, as the defense has only one or two more witnesses to testify.

If Judge Thomas Gill, of St. Clair county, has disappeared. He has unexpectedly left without the permission of the court. It was discovered that he had left at 5 o'clock this morning, when the bed assigned to him last night was found vacant. He was also seen on the road to Mansfield, where it is believed he took the train for Osceola. Detective Schumacher, of the Pinkertons, and the state's attorneys had a talk with the judge yesterday, and he told about January 15 and described the mah who came to his house, who looked like a farm hand. Gill bought the horse for $10 Judge Gill said the man was not Jack Kennedy for he was well acquainted with the "quail hunter." having met him in the Kansas City jail.

In the presence of several lawyers Gill told his story. His description of the people of Las Vegas, the entitled to every consideration at the hands of the people of the republic. Naturally the people of Las Vegas, the city chosen by the rough riders themselves as the place for the holding of the reunion, are sparing no money in their efforts to make the reunion the success it deserves to be. The people will take care of and entertain the rough riders and their invited guests at their own expense and it is not proposed to allow any rough rider to spend a dollar while in the city. Cassi Will Sound Assembly.

"It's all up with New York," he said to a reporter. "Henderson has enough votes to elect him already, and in a few days he will be cleet him already, and in a few days he still have nearly every state in the Union back of him. Under the circumstances, all that the New York delegation can do is to the fall in line to-morrow and whoop it up for Henderson. If we adopt any other courses we will be dragged in the mud behind the Henderson charlot. Moreover, to put forward a New York candidate when all the rest of the country is with Henderson, would not improve the chances of the New York congressmen to get well placed on the Committees."

Autordinary preparations to take care the immense crowds expected to be preent. The Montezuma hotel at the hospings will accommodate 600 getusts. The Casteneda, run by Fred Harvey, concede to be the finest hostery in the Southwest will take care of 100 extra, and what with numerous other hotels, the Plaza, the Optic, the Rawlins, and the many furnished room houses, the city will be established where many will ind excellent sleeping accommodations at cheap rates.
